1987 STATE SUMMARY

The development of public library systems began in Wisconsin in 1973 with the formation of the first four public library systems. As of January 1, 1988 all state public libraries and all but one county were participating members of public library system.

Wisconsin has 373 independent public libraries organized around 17 public library systems. These libraries vary considerably in size and services provided. For comparison purposes, home community population was used for classification groupings. Since all public libraries in Wisconsin open their doors to at least all residents of the counties within the system area, home community population does not necessarily represent the actual population being served.

However, several useful observations can be made by classifying libraries by home community population and home communities. Charts 1 and 2 present library characteristic totals and the corresponding percent of the state total by population group. For instance, 173 public libraries (46% of all public libraries) are located in communities of under 2,000 population. These libraries hold 1.3 million volumes, 10% of all volumes held in Wisconsin public libraries.

Wisconsin's 1987 population was 4.8 million. About 1.1 million of these residents do not have a public library in their home community. Of established public libraries, about two-thirds are located in communities of under 4,000 population and over 75% are in communities of under 8,000 population. The 288 libraries in communities under 8,000 have a total home community population total of about 625,000. In comparison, the largest 32 public libraries (9% of all public libraries) have a total home community population total of over 2.3 million.

Considering the underlying community base, it is not surprising that nearly 70% of all funds are expended by the largest 32 libraries. Meanwhile small community libraries representing 75% of all libraries receive and expend about 14% of all funds. Staffing patterns reflect the expenditure distribution. In terms of full time equivalent positions, the 288 small community public libraries employ about 20% of all staff employed by public libraries and public library systems. These same libraries employ 9% of all professional public librarians. The largest 31 libraries employ 61% of all public library and public library system staff and 72% of all professional public librarians.

Comparisons of total volumes held show 28% percent of all public library holdings are retained in small public libraries. The largest 32 libraries hold about one-half the total volumes held. Circulation totals indicate active small libraries with these libraries accounting for over 20% of all circulation. Middle range public libraries appear to have holdings, circulation and staffing proportionate to their fiscal support.

Funding for public library services grew by approximately 6% from 1986 to 1987 while spending increased by 5%. There was a 5.6% increase in the number of full time equivalent professional librarians employed. Overall spending for library personnel increased by 4.1%. The number of video cassette titles held increase by over 62% from 1986 to 1987. Periodical titles subscribed to increase by 3.6%. Library holdings of records and tapes decreased slightly. Both titles added and volumes added increased by a small percentage. The total book collection size increase to nearly 14 million volumes. Total library material expenditures increased by 6%. All other library expenditures increased by 7% from 1986 to 1987.

The source of public library funding remains primarily at the local level with 80.5% of all funds coming from municipalities and counties. State aid to public library systems represents 9.4% of all library income while income from federal sources (mainly Library Services and Construction Act, Title I) constituted 1.2% of revenues. The remaining 9% of income is from gifts, trusts and service contracts. Expenditures followed the pattern of recent years with personnel costs accounting for 69% of all funds expended. Fourteen percent of available funds were used to purchase library materials.

PERCENTILE MEASURES FOR PUBLIC LIBRARIES

In 1986 the Wisconsin Public Library Standards Task Force reviewed 1985 public library data. The analysis developed for that review is updated and presented here. This analysis takes the form of percentile charts, indicating a range of reported data for population groupings. Population groupings were created based on public library home community size. These groupings are the same as those shown in Table 1.

The data can be used for comparative planning purposes. For example, a library serving 7,000 people that makes available 5.5 volumes per capita is placed at just over the 70th percentile (see Table 4); its rate of holdings per capita is greater than that of about 70 percent of the libraries in its population group. This analysis will be updated annually.

1988 STATE SUMMARY

Wisconsin has 371 independent public libraries organized into 17 public library systems. These systems and public libraries serve 4.8 million state residents. All public libraries and all but one of the state's 72 counties are system members. Included in the 371 independent libraries are 7 consolidated county libraries (the county provides all services). Two libraries are joint city-county libraries and 24 are joint municipal libraries. Three hundred thirty-one libraries are organized as municipal public libraries. Seven counties supplement local library service with county library service organizations. Nearly two-thirds of the libraries are located in communities of under 4,000 population.

Support for public libraries remains primarily a local responsibility. Of the $90.2 million in public library service income in 1988, municipalities provided $57.4 million or 63.6 percent of the total and counties provided $14.5 million, 16.1 percent. State aid accounted for 9.3 percent of all income while federal aid provided 1.5 percent. Contract income, gifts, endowment, and all other income contributed the remaining 9.5 percent. Total funding increase by 7.4 percent over 1987.

Local tax support for public library service varies considerably. Per capita support ranges from a low of $.66 to a high of $39.24. The state average per capita support is $14.94. Residents supporting a local municipal library, including consolidated counties and joint libraries, average $18.31 per capita. Non-resident users, those living outside the municipal jurisdiction of the library's home community, support public library service at an average rate of $5.59 per capita. Corresponding property tax rates per $1,000 of assessed value average .590 statewide with residents taxed at an average rate of .758 and non-residents at .198.

Expenditures for public library service increase by nearly 7 percent over 1987. Salaries, wages and benefits accounted for 68.4 percent of all expenditures. These expenditures include wages and benefits for maintenance staff. In the library statistics following this section these costs have been included under other operating cost. They are included here so that this classification remains comparable with previous year's statistics. Library materials expenditures were $12 million, 14.2 percent of all spending. All other expenditures were 17.4 percent of all funds spent.

System and public library staffs (full-time equivalents) increase in total from 2,351.4 in 1987 to 2,410.6 in 1988. However, the number of librarians holding a MLS decreased by 3.5% from 557.4 to 538. The number of direct loans exceeded 35 million for the first time. The annual rate of increase of 2.8% approached the 1987 annual increase rate of 3.1%. The total number of volumes held and volumes added remained consistent with last year's totals. The number of titles added, however, increased by 16 percent over 1987. Holdings of periodical titles and sound recordings, discs and tapes, remained at 1987 levels. The number of video cassette held continued to increase dramatically increasing by over 50 percent from last year. The number of video cassettes held statewide has increased from 7,300 in 1984 (the first year statistics were collected) to 62,500 in 1988.

PUBLIC LIBRARY STANDARDS

In 1986 the Wisconsin Public Library Standards Task Force reviewed 1985 public library data and developed standards based, in some cases, on percentile measures for library characteristics by library community population groupings. The results of that analysis are updated and presented in the following tables. These tables compare library holdings, staff and hours open by population groupings. The standard for each of these measures is the 50th percentile. Originally population groupings were created based on public library home community size. Tables 1 through 9 present percentiles values based on this population.

Using the public library's home community size as a measure of the population served has several disadvantages. Chief among them is the failure to account for the 25 percent of the state's population living outside of communities supporting a public library. In an attempt to overcome this limitations, the Division for Library Services has estimated the number of non-residents served and by adding that estimate to the population of the home community has arrived at an initial estimate of each library's total service population. This assignment of the non-resident population will be reviewed by system and local librarians in the upcoming year.

The non-resident population served was estimated by dividing the community population by the total of all community populations for each county and multiplying the result by the county non-resident population. For example, consider a county of population 20,000. The total population of communities with libraries is 16,000. The population of non-resident served by these libraries is then 4,000. The assignment of these persons to a library would be done as follows.

Library	Pop.	Pop. / Pop. Total	Non-Resident Est.	Total Served
City A	8,000	8,000/16,000 = .50	.50 X 4,000 = 2,000	10,000
Village B	4,000	4,000/16,000 = .25	.25 X 4,000 = 1,000	5,000
Village C	4,000	4,000/16,000 = .25	.25 X 4,000 = 1,000	5,000
Totals	16,000		4,000	20,000

Tables 1A through 9A present the percentile rankings for libraries by total estimated service population. Holdings and staff per 1,000 population or per capita standards have been recalculated in these tables to correspond with the estimated service population.

The data can be used for comparative planning purposes. For example, a library serving a total estimated population of 7,000 people that makes available 3.8 volumes per capita is placed at just over the 70th percentile (see Table 2A); its rate of holdings per capita is greater than that of about 70 percent of the libraries in its population group.
